DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Henry Finzel Farm is located in an open slightly hilly area, on the northern slope of Piney Creek.

The farmhouse has been greatly altered, but the barn retains its original character.

The house is a 2-story dwelling measuring 2 bays by 2 bays. It rests on a stone foundation, has aluminum siding (original siding is not detectable), and has a corrugated metal clad gable roof.

The facade faces north and has an off-set entrance at the east end. The facade originally had a central entrance. A 1-story shed porch runs across the facade, of which half is enclosed. An entrance to the enclosed portion is on the east side of the enclosure.

There is a 1-story shed enclosed addition on the rear, S elevation with an entrance on the E elevation.

All window openings have been altered and are 1/1 aluminum sash.

There is an exterior concrete block chimney on the west gable end.

A frame bank barn with a forebay lies west of the house. It rests on a roughly squared stone foundation with red mortar mixed with small stones. The frame is hand-hewn and joined with wooden pegs and covered with vertical boards. The gable roof is covered with corrugated metal. A corncrib is located between the house and barn.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This house is an example of a common western Maryland type. Houses of this general configuration, a rectangular main block were constructed in Garrett County from the late nineteenth through the early twentieth centuries.

This farm was the original settlement of Henry Finzel, an early settler in this part of Garrett County. The nearby community of Finzel was named for this family.
